Bobcat is where every Lion begins. You'll get to know the other Scouts in your den, hear the Scout Law, and learn what doing your best means. It's all about starting your Scouting adventure with new friends.

Requirements

Every official requirement, in plain language. Check the official wording when you sign off (scouting.org/cub-scout-adventures/bobcat-lion/). Tips and examples are ideas, not extra requirements.

☐ 1 Get to know the other Scouts in your den

Tip: Play a name game with your den, like tossing a ball and saying the name of the person you throw to.

Example: Sit in a circle and roll a ball. Before you roll it, say the name of the friend you're rolling it to and one food you like. By the end, try to name everyone in the circle.

☐ 2 Have your adult partner or den leader read you the Scout Law, then show you understand what being friendly means

Tip: After you hear the Scout Law, show being friendly by inviting someone new to play or sharing a toy.

Example: Being friendly can look like waving at a new kid, asking someone to play tag with you, or saving a seat for a friend at snack time. Show one of these at the den meeting.

- ☐ 3 At a den meeting or at home, tell your adult partner about a time you showed the Cub Scout motto "Do Your Best"

Tip: Think of a time you kept trying, like learning to ride a scooter. Tell your adult partner about it at a den meeting or at home.

Example: "I did my best when I learned to ride my scooter. I fell down a lot, but I kept going." Tell the story to your adult partner at a den meeting or at home. Drawing a picture of it first can help you remember what to say.

- ☐ 4 At home, work through the youth protection booklet (A Parent's Guide) activities together with a parent or legal guardian

Tip: Sit down with your parent or guardian at a calm time and do the Parent's Guide activities together.
