Bobcat is where every Wolf year starts. You'll get to know your den, learn the words Scouts live by, and agree on how to treat each other. It's a friendly way to begin a great year together.

Requirements

Every official requirement, in plain language. Check the official wording when you sign off (scouting.org/cub-scout-adventures/bobcat-wolf/). Tips and examples are ideas, not extra requirements.

☐ 1 Get to know the members of your den

Tip: Play a name game, like tossing a ball and saying the catcher's name and favorite food.

☐ 2 With your den and den leader, say the Scout Oath and Scout Law aloud

Tip: Say the Oath and Law together at each meeting. A little practice at home helps too.

☐ 3 Learn about the Scout Law

Tip: Pick one point of the Law each week and talk about what it looks like at school or home.

Example: Pick one point of the Scout Law, like helpful. Then name a time you saw it this week: "My sister was helpful when she carried in the groceries."

☐ 4 Create a den Code of Conduct with your den

Tip: Let everyone suggest a rule, then vote. Write the code on a poster and have each scout sign it.

Example: Your den's Code of Conduct might say: "We listen when someone is talking. We keep our hands to ourselves. We cheer for each other." Then everyone signs the poster.

☐ 5 Show the Cub Scout sign, salute, and handshake and when each is used

Tip: Practice the sign, salute, and handshake with your den, then quiz each other on when to use each one.

Example: Use the sign when you say the Oath and Law, the salute for the flag, and the handshake when you meet another Scout. Your den can quiz each other: "What do we do when the flag goes by?"

☐ 6 Tell your den or family about a time you showed the Cub Scout motto "Do Your Best"

Tip: Think of a time you kept trying even when something was hard, like riding a bike or reading a book.

Example: Do Your Best can be small. Maybe you kept practicing spelling words until you got them all, or you kept trying to ride your bike after you fell off.

☐ 7 At home, do the activities in the youth protection Parent's Guide booklet with your parent or legal guardian

Tip: Sit down with a parent or guardian at a calm time. These talks help keep you safe.
