Lion's Pride is about your family's faith traditions and showing kindness. You'll talk with your family about what you believe and celebrate, and you'll make something cheerful for someone you love. It's a time to share what matters most to your family.

Requirements

Every official requirement, in plain language. Check the official wording when you sign off (scouting.org/cub-scout-adventures/lions-pride/). Tips and examples are ideas, not extra requirements.

- ☐ 1 Talk with your parent or legal guardian about your family's faith traditions; draw your favorite faith holiday or celebration

Tip: Ask your family about a holiday or celebration you share, then draw your favorite part of it.

Example: Your grown-up tells you about a holiday your family shares, like the special food, songs, or candles. You draw your favorite part, maybe the family dinner or lighting candles together.

- ☐ 2 Go with your family to a religious service, or another gathering where your family shows its Family & Reverence

Tip: Go to a service or gathering with your family and notice one thing that helps people feel reverent.

Example: Go with your family to a service, prayer time, or gathering that fits what your family believes. Notice one thing people do to show respect, like being quiet, singing together, or bowing heads.

☐ 3 Make a cheerful card or picture and hand it to someone you love

Tip: Make a card with bright colors and a kind message, then hand it to someone you love.

Example: Make a card with a drawing of you and someone you love, and a kind message your adult helps you write, like "You make me happy." Hand it to them and watch them smile.
